

OAKBROOK 2018 SUMMER READING ASSIGNMENTS: AP ENGLISH LANGUAGE (11th)

AP English Language and Composition students must read the texts below and complete the accompanying assignments. Read and follow the assigned directions carefully.

I. Nineteen Eighty-Four (1984), by George Orwell.

Annotate your copy of the text thoroughly while you read. Make note of imagery, symbolism, and use of rhetoric (especially in part III!) Texts should be purchased so you can annotate them. Purchase new copies or used books with little to no writing in them. Do not re-use a copy that has been already used by a student. Annotations will be graded. Be prepared to take a test in response to the text on the first full day of class and write an essay later that week.

II. Journalism Reading

To provide a foundation of examples and ideas to support the arguments you will write about in AP Language, this summer you will read a number of reputable journalistic articles (magazines, newspapers, etc.) Read long-form journalistic articles and essays* from The New York Times, The Washington Post, The New Yorker, etc., either online or in print.

Recommended high-quality, non-partisan publications (all below are available online. Most are in print at a local library):

The New York Times	National Geographic
The Atlantic / theatlantic.com	Slate
The Economist	The Wall Street Journal
The New Yorker	Newsweek
Christian Science Monitor	Forbes
TIME (Time magazine)	Longreads.com

Other publications may be acceptable but exercise good judgment in choosing what to read. You are responsible for choosing quality content. When in doubt, do preliminary research of your own about the publication to determine its reputation and reliability.

Read a total of 10 articles (1-2 a week?) throughout the summer. Choose articles of at least 1,000 words each that relate to current local, national, or global subjects of civic concern such as health, technology, economics, public policy, etc. (Sports articles are acceptable but must be long-form reporting on issues of concern beyond just the scope of sports.) Vary the content and source of your articles—don't just read the same subjects from the same publications. Also, you don't just have to read about politics or the War on Terror. Those subjects dominate front pages, but there's plenty elsewhere. Dig for good content. Keep up with this assignment on a regular basis. Articles must be published throughout the summer (or earlier). Do not read all 10 the week before you return to school.

Here is an example of timely long-form journalism from The Atlantic, a well-known magazine that reports on public affairs: <https://www.theatlantic.com/business/archive/2017/05/men-women-rust-belt/525888/>

For each article you read, do the following:

- Print out and annotate each online article (for actual print publications, annotate a hard copy.)
- Hole-punch the article and place it in a 3-pronged pocket folder. Do not use a binder.
- Complete the following in pen on a sheet of paper and place in the folder after each article:

A works cited MLA citation, 8th ed. (consult MLA Handbook or Purdue's OWL website)

A 5-8 sentence summary of the article

List of 2-3 main points

"SOAPStone" (see below)

Your response/evaluation of the subject

Example entry:

Citation:

Begley, Sharon. "How Quickly We Forget." Newsweek. 7 May 2010: NP. Web.

Summary: As oil transportation worldwide continues to increase, many communities are at risk of oil spill disasters and must anticipate and prepare for them. Factors that influence oil spill consequences range from the biological and physical to the social. The author of this article points out that economic factors prevent stronger measures that would prevent future disasters. Regulations on the transportation of crude oil could prevent such spills in the future but may also lead to higher oil prices. This increase in cost, the author suggests, would lead to an increase in the price of gasoline. That is why, she argues, many elected officials are reluctant to take the necessary steps to prevent such oil spills in the future. Public outcry is heightened after such disasters but quickly wanes shortly thereafter.

Main point #1: The author cited previous oil spills like the Exxon Valdez near Alaska in 1989, but notes that after a period of public outrage, the public goes back to normal life with no changes.

Main Point #2: Previous public apathy is shown by the quick return to normalcy after pandemic warnings about avian and swine flu.

SUBJECT: Oil spills and their effects

OCCASION (time and place): The [then-recent] 2010 spill in the Gulf of Mexico

AUDIENCE: American public, generally well-educated readers

PURPOSE: to inform readers; generate discussion about a thought-provoking topic;

SPEAKER/AUTHOR: Reporter with knowledge of environmental affairs

TONE (attitude of writer): indignantly pessimistic: Oil spills have become far too common; American citizens have been desensitized to the risks of energy production.

MY RESPONSE/CONCLUSION: I agree that oil spills and other natural disasters draw public attentions and sympathy for a time, but that public attention is quickly drawn to the next sensational story without much real action.

* Long-form journalism is a branch of journalism dedicated to longer-content articles typically between 1,000 and 10,000 words. Long-form articles often take the form of creative nonfiction or narrative journalism and typically do not include work published by news websites (cnn.com, foxnews.com, etc.) and they are typically not editorial (conveying an opinion) in nature.

Some online publications use a "paywall," which requires readers to purchase a subscription after reading 5-10 articles. Purchasing a subscription is not required. Read articles from more than one publication, so you don't have to purchase a subscription (Some publications, such as theatlantic.com, do not use a paywall. The Wall Street Journal requires a subscription before reading articles.) Paper copies of publications are available at all branches of the Spartanburg library. Electronic resources are also available through www.scdiscus.org.

III. Nonfiction Argument Analysis

AP Language Independent Reading Assignment: Choose a book from the list below to read. Take time to read a little about several before choosing. Texts vary greatly in style, time periods, and subject matter (cultural commentary, biography, science & nature, political writing, etc.) It is YOUR responsibility to make an informed choice about the book's content, length, and subject matter. Then complete the writing assignment below.

Angelou, Maya
I Know Why the Caged Bird Sings

Baldwin, James
Notes of a Native Son

Bauby, Jean-Dominique
The Diving Bell and the Butterfly

Bernstein, Carl and Bob Woodward
All the President's Men

Beah, Ishmael
A Long Way Gone: Memoirs of a Boy Soldier

Bragg, Rick
Ava's Man

Cain, Susan
Quiet: The Power of Introverts in a World That Can't Stop Talking

Campbell, Joseph
The Hero With a Thousand Faces

Capote, Truman
In Cold Blood

Carson, Rachel
Silent Spring

Conroy, Pat
The Water Is Wide

Cullen, Jim
The American Dream: A Short History of an Idea that Shaped a Nation

Dillard, Annie
For the Time Being

Dillard, Annie
Pilgrim at Tinker Creek

Dillard, Annie
An American Childhood

Doig, Ivan
This House of Sky

Douglass, Frederick - Narrative of the Life of Frederick Douglass, an American Slave

Ehrenreich, Barbara
Nickel and Dimed: on Not Getting by in America

Einstein, Albert
Ideas and Opinions

Emerson, Ralph Waldo
The Essential Writings of Ralph Waldo Emerson

Foer, Franklin
How Soccer Explains the World

Friedan, Betty, and Anna Quindlen
The Feminine Mystique

Friedman, Milton
Capitalism and Freedom

Gawande, Atul
Complications: A Surgeon's Notes on an Imperfect Science

Gladwell, Malcolm
The Tipping Point: How Little Things Can Make a Big Difference

Gladwell, Malcolm
Blink

Gould, Stephen Jay
The Mismeasure of Man

Guthman, Edwin O.
RFK: Collected Speeches

Hillenbrand, Laura
Seabiscuit: An American Legend

Keller, Helen
The World I Live In and Optimism

Kidder, Tracy
Mountains Beyond Mountains: The Quest of Dr. Paul Farmer, a Man Who Would Cure the World

King, Jr., Martin Luther
Why We Can't Wait

Kingsolver, Barbara
Animal, Vegetable, Miracle

Krakauer, Jon
Into the Wild

Krakauer, Jon
Into Thin Air

Malcolm X
The Autobiography of Malcolm X

Mencken, H.L. The American Language	Rousseau, Jean-Jacques The Social Contract
McCullough, David , 1776	Schlosser, Eric Fast Food Nation
McCullough, David, John Adams	Thomas, Lewis The Medusa and the Snail
Mokyr, Joel A Culture of Growth: The Origins of the Modern Economy	Thomas, Lewis The Lives of a Cell
Lansing, Alfred Endurance: Shackleton's Incredible Voyage	Thoreau, Henry David Walden
Nabakov, Vladimir Speak, Memory	Twain, Mark The Autobiography of Mark Twain
Nafisi, Azar Reading Lolita in Tehran	Tuchman, Barbara The Guns of August
Nichols, Tom The Death of Expertise: The Campaign Against Established Knowledge and Why it Matters	Venkatesh, Sudir Gang Leader for a Day: A Rogue Socialist Takes to the Streets
Paine, Thomas Common Sense	Weinman, Sam Win at Losing: How Our Biggest Setbacks Can Lead to Our Greatest Gains
Pausch, Randy The Last Lecture	Washington, Booker T. Up from Slavery
Postman, Neil Technopoly: The Surrender of Culture to Technology	Wolfe, Tom The Right Stuff
Postman, Neil The End of Education: Redefining the Value of School	Wollstonecraft, Mary A Vindication of the Rights of Woman
Postman, Neil Building a Bridge to the 18th Century: How the Past Can Improve Our Future	Woolf, Virginia A Room of One's Own
Postman, Neil The Disappearance of Childhood	Woolf, Virginia Moments of Being
Rand, Ayn The Virtue in Selfishness	Wright, Richard Black Boy
Rhodes, Richard The Making of the Atomic Bomb	Zinn, Howard A People's History of the United States: 1942 to Present
Rawls, John A Theory of Justice

Essay assignment: Write a well-developed essay, analyzing the main ideas/claims conveyed by the author (implied or explicit). Analyze the major claims of the text and the strategies that the author uses to develop them. Rhetorical strategies include personal anecdotes, surveys, research studies, or interviews with experts.

Requirements:

12-point, Times New Roman font, typed, double-spaced, no extra spacing, stapled.
 MLA format
 Works cited page for source text (book)
 Correct parenthetical citations (see MLA Handbook for guidelines)
 3-page minimum typed, due first day of class.

Suggestion for organization:

Paragraph 1: introduction to and brief biography of author, historical context
 Paragraph 2: Brief summary of book and situational / historical context
 Next 3-5 paragraphs: Analysis of claims and rhetorical strategies

